TEMPLE TERRACE SALUTES KING HIGH CHORUS

TEMPLE TERRACE, FL. – (12/7/10) – Temple Terrace offers warm congratulations to King High School’s advanced show choir, PRIDE, which will be featured in a television promo during Super Bowl week, school officials have announced.

WTVT-FOX 13 will videotape the school’s chorus next week for a promotional spot for its popular television program “Good Day Tampa Bay,” according to WTVT-FOX 13 officials.

During the spot, students in the school choir will sing an energetic a cappella version of the “Good Day” song originally recorded by American Idol finalist Syesha Mercado. The promo will likely run during Super Bowl week, officials said.

“This is awesome!” said Temple Terrace Mayor Joe Affronti. “Temple Terrace is truly fortunate to have King High School for our young men and women to attend, where they can experience one of the top high schools in the country. We offer our sincere congratulations to Principal Carla Bruning, the teachers and staff who make all of these wonderful achievements possible.”

The PRIDE chorus is lead by Talana K. Greene, who is in her eighth year as director of vocal music for King High School. During her tenure, Greene has turned the school’s choir into one of the most decorated and respected vocal programs in the state. The chorus has appeared on both regional and national television.
