DEDICATION CEREMONY PLANNED FOR REDEVELOPMENT

TEMPLE TERRACE, FL. – (11/16/11) – A special Dedication Ceremony is coming up in December celebrating the construction of a new “Main Street” and park in Temple Terrace’s redevelopment area.

This special event will be Dec. 1, 2011 at 2 p.m. in the center of the redevelopment site, located on the southeast corner of Bullard Parkway and 56th Street in Temple Terrace. Motorists should enter from 56th Street.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend this momentous occasion, which marks a significant milestone in the progress of the City’s redevelopment project. Many of the antiquated storefronts were razed or refurbished during the summer, along with parking, infrastructure improvements and other work.

That paved the way for a boulevard through the heart of the project, and a new park destined to become a popular gathering spot. As the project moves forward, plans call for a mixed development of retail, residential, restaurant and civic uses, including a 16,800-sq.-ft. Center for the Arts.

The Dedication Ceremony will feature remarks by Temple Terrace Mayor Joe Affronti, former mayor Fran Barford, and City Manager Kim Leinbach.

Michael Vlass, president of Vlass Temple Terrace, LLC, the City’s master developer, will talk about the project’s progress and timeline. Temple Terrace City Council members, along with other dignitaries and special guests, also will attend.

There will be music, refreshments and lots of fun, so don’t miss this chance to show your support.
